

A line drawing of a stylized character, possibly a robot or alien, with a large, rounded head and a single large eye. A red dimension line above the head indicates a width of 740 units. The character has a small antenna on the right side of its head and a large, curved shape on its left side, possibly a wing or a tail. The drawing is simple, using black outlines on a white background.

